Inclement Weather Reminders

During the winter months, inclement weather may cause the disruption of bus transportation and regular school operations.

Parents/guardians are reminded to review the inclement weather information below:

Check the internet

- Transportation information and school bus notifications will be posted at <https://rrdtsc.rrdsb.com/> as well as on our Facebook and Twitter pages.

Listen to Area Radio Stations

- All transportation cancellations will be broadcast on the radio stations for those that do not have access to the internet.

Parent/Guardian responsibility

- Ultimately it is the responsibility of the parents and/or guardians to decide if they want their child(ren) to attend school on inclement weather days. If bus transportation is cancelled, it is the parent's/guardian's responsibility to provide transportation.

Know your child's transportation provider and Route ID

- Being familiar with your student(s) transportation provider and route ID will help you properly identify the status of your child/children's transportation service when you see it on the RRDTS website or hear it on the radio station. Please note that your child/children's route ID may be different in the morning from the route ID in the afternoon. Please ensure you listen for both morning and afternoon route ID's cancellation/delay status.

Dressing appropriately while waiting for the bus

- Students are required to be at their bus stop 10-15 minutes prior to their assigned stop time. During the winter we experience cooler temperatures that could result in bus delays. We encourage everyone to dress appropriately in the event that their bus is delayed and they are required to wait. Don't forget, all delays will be posted to our social media pages & bus delays/cancellations blog. Like, follow, subscribe today!
