Parents and Staff:

The School District, in coordination with federal, state, and local emergency managers, continues to actively monitor Hurricane Ian and its progress toward Florida’s west coast.

School campuses and District offices will remain open on Tuesday. All students and staff should report tomorrow as scheduled. District student aftercare programs will remain open tomorrow. However, after school extracurricular activities, including athletic events and practices have been canceled for tomorrow. All evening Adult Education programs for Tuesday are also canceled.

Although Palm Beach County is not located in the forecaster's probability cone which indicates the projected path of the storm, hazardous conditions can occur outside of the cone. It’s also important to remember that the projected track is subject to change.

The District’s top priority is to ensure the safety of our students, employees, and the community at large. We will continue to monitor the storm throughout its course, and will provide updates as needed through the District’s website, social media, and via direct email and calls to parents and staff.

An update regarding potential schedule changes for Wednesday will be provided tomorrow afternoon.

Thank you for your support of the School District of Palm Beach County.
